Ethical Investing: Your Money as a Force for Good

Learn how ethical investing is not only providing solutions to climate change and improving corporate responsibility, but also empowering people to create real financial freedom for themselves and their families. Take home tips and strategies from the night for investing in a brighter future for generations to come. Join us on Wednesday 22nd March!

Gecko Talks March speaker is Adrian Nathaniel, a licensed financial advisor who champions the conscious creation of wealth in this world through values-based, ethical and responsible investment. He is passionate about the environment, community values and building a conscious economy. He is a member of Gecko, the Ethical Advisers Co-Op and the Responsible Investment Association Australasia and has recently published a book on conscious wealth creation, entitled The Yoga of Wealth.

As consumers, we have a unique power to guide the marketplace based on the choices of what products and services we purchase and where we place our value. We have a choice to buy from companies that commit to Fair Trade practices, ecological consciousness and ethical responsibility. Holding companies accountable for their resource extraction, for their treatment of workers and for their environmental impact is definitely one way to instigate a shift in the approach these companies take.

Register with Eventbrite to receive a report for further discussion on the night. Upstairs in the Bingo Room at Currumbin RSL at 6.30 for 7pm start.
